Linemen and over-employees of the Vermont Tel. & Tel. Co., representing the working forces in Barre and Montpelier, returned to the city late Sunday afternoon from Rutland, making the trip in automobiles over the mountain route from Bethel. A successful meeting of the Vermont telephone chapter was held Saturday afternoon in the Marble city.

Vermont National Guardsmen, many of whom were mobilized in Northfield Saturday, were attracted to the city in numbers Saturday and Sunday. Instead of the regiment mobilization, the gathering of the militia took the form of a battalion mobilization, as the expected quota of companies from various parts of the state did not appear. Rough roads were responsible, it was said, for the non-appearance of some of the companies.

Ugerio Gervasi, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gervasi of Center street, returned to the city last evening from Burlington, where he has been undergoing treatment at the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington for the past 10 days.

The Perry & Noonan ambulance met the lad at the station and carried him to his home. The Gervasi boy has been suffering for several weeks with paralysis of the lower left limb. While in Burlington specialists from New York examined the boy, prescribed treatment for the paralysis, and expressed their belief that he will regain the use of the member in a few months.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. B. Reardon, who went to Boston Saturday to attend a Universalist conference, Sunday morning services in the Universalist church were conducted by Rev. George F. Fortier of St. Albans, superintendent of the churches in Vermont and New Hampshire. Beginning yesterday and continuing until autumn, Sunday evening services are to be omitted in the Barre church. At the Congregational church Sunday morning, Prof. Carl Vose Woodbury of Norwich university preached in the absence of Rev. J. W. Barnett. Prof. Woodbury also spoke at the meeting of the men's class immediately after the morning worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander T. Beaton returned to their home in South Ryegate Saturday evening, after spending a few days with friends in the city.

The monthly meeting of the Bonaccord football club will be held in the pavilion to-morrow, Tuesday, May 23, at 8 p. m. All members of the club are urged to attend.

We Are Very Busy These Days!

This has been one of the most busy seasons we have ever had, and one great reason for this extra business is due to the fact that we have had the goods the trade wanted just at the time when they were looking for them. We have also put a lot of time and study into this feature, and as our method of keeping in close touch with the principal markets keeps the new things coming into each department all the time, as soon as the good, new materials are out you will find them on our shelves.

We are now making special clean-up prices of a lot of odd Suits and Coats to clean up our stock ready for mid-summer needs.

See our line of Children's Wash Dresses in gingham. We will show you an extra large display of these dresses in a variety of good styles at only one dollar each.

Bargain Basement

Our Saturday sale of 9c Towels took many to our bargain basement who never before knew we had such a department. This brought them in touch with a lot of goods at prices far less than regular prices.

This Bargain Basement has lots of kinds of Dry Goods that will save you in a year many dollars. Goods sold in this basement are first quality. They are odd lots bought by us at a less price and sold to you as special Basement Bargain Prices. You should spend a few minutes here each week.

Warm weather increases the laundry bill. Many buy lighter weight, cheaper Night Robes for summer. This Bargain Basement is just the place to visit.

Night Robes, lace edge ribbon run around neck and sleeves. These while they last at 25c each.

Night Robes with wide hamburger edges, ribbon run around neck and sleeves, at 39c each.

One lot of Night Robes made of Long Cloth trimmed with wide, fine hamburger edges around neck and sleeves; assorted sizes. For these you would expect to pay from 60c to 75c each. In this Bargain Basement at 49c each.

One lot of very fine, very pretty Muslin Night Robes that you would expect to pay $1.25 for. This small lot at 87c each.

One lot of Envelope Combinations at 49c each.

Children's Drawers, 9c; Misses' Drawers, 15c; Ladies' 19c.

Ladies' fine Percale Waists; Bargain Basement, 49c.

Wash Goods and White Goods in this Bargain Basement.

Ladies' Summer Wash Skirts

Our full line of Ladies' White and Colored Wash Skirts is now ready for your inspection and selection.

This is a line of Skirts that is sure to make for us many friends. We take pride in showing you this line of Skirts, as we know that for style, workmanship and quality it has no equal.

For our cheap line, we carry the Rutland Skirt, which is a Skirt that is made from cloths that are the season's best, and in materials that we guarantee in every way. Then, too, they are made in styles that are equal to the better grade Skirts.

See our special Colored House Skirt at only $1.25 each. In the White Skirts of this make, see our values at $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00.

In the medium-priced Skirt, we can show you a large variety of popular cloths, made in the season's most up-to-date style. These are the M. & C. made Skirts, which is a guarantee as to style and workmanship.

In the better grade Skirts, we are showing the Wooltex line. These Skirts are guaranteed not to shrink, either in the cloths or waistbands.

See these Wash Skirts while the line is complete.

Automobile Races Have Wrought Big Changes in Cars.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a writer says:

"The automobile races in which cars are subjected to a terrific strain have brought out the weaknesses of different machines, and have aided designers in getting the proportions just right for emergency use."

"Big, unsightly fenders have given way to crowned fenders of least wind resistance. High, awkward tops have been replaced by low, graceful ones. Hoods and body lines have been constantly refined to give a graceful sweeping effect. Bulky tool boxes and large attachments of various kinds have become less conspicuous, and heavy, overstrung and large castings have been succeeded by light yet strong parts which give greater tire and gasoline mileage. Modern cars can now make a greater mileage on poor gasoline than the old single-cylinder and two-cylinder cars did on high-test gasoline. Standardization of parts and increase of cars have enabled manufacturers to produce better cars at a lower cost."

Looking for Farms in the East.

Less is heard about abandoned farms in Massachusetts now that so many of our waste places have been taken up by city people for country homes, or by the foreign-born who are more and more leaving mill work to acquire farms.

These newcomers to the country bring old world standards of toil, and every member of such a household does his or her part. When our forebears were subduing the earth in this state such industry was a necessity of the situation, and so it is now with these people who must make a second conquest of land which had been permitted to recede for lack of attention. These Poles and people of other nationalities are making more than a living. The wants of such families are small in comparison with those of native owners of farms, and the growingly difficult problem of help is provided for by large families. From these beginnings a desirable element of citizenship, taught in the local schools, is growing. A man like Rev. Dr. F. E. Emrich, the Congregational bishop of the rural regions of this state, comes to know through personal contact how valuable an asset Massachusetts possesses in this part of her rising generation.

Over in New York state there would appear to be more farm land available for purchase. A statement by the commissioner of agriculture shows an increasing demand for farms, and that the inquiries come largely from the West, where agricultural opportunities are supposed to be most inviting. We are told that improved roadways, good markets, advanced methods of cultivation and of treating the soil, promising larger returns to the farmer, are among the influences that are turning attention to agriculture in the Empire state. The commissioner reports that inquiries about New York farms come from prospective buyers in Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Nebraska, Indiana, South Dakota and Washington. The new interest in rural life which is manifested in that state, as well as in Massachusetts, is a good deal responsible for the growing appreciation of the fact that there are excellent chances for profitable living on the farms. People who have grown weary of the flat country of the West can be made to look longingly upon the hills and streams that easterners tend to undervalue, and that is one of the reasons why New York's commissioner of agriculture sees something like a "back from the West" movement.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

America's Brilliant Gardens.

"I can't say enough in praise of the American gardens! I think I should rave about them if I ever let myself go," exclaimed Miss Carlisle. "They are ravishing—so sunlit, abounding in freshness and beauty! Do you realize that they are so brilliant that I can never show paintings of American gardens in the same room with English gardens, because they make them look quite dreary! Their one fault is that there is often too much statuary in them, and much of it irrelevant. Frequently, too, they are not rambling enough, and seem a little self-conscious. In English gardens small paving stones mellow with years are used, and the furnishings add that warmth which breeds intimacy. It is the informal garden that attracts the artist. In England these abound, with their winding paths passing through uneven hedges of many varieties of flowers. That uneven hedge, flashing forth vivid colors, one seldom sees in America, probably because of the fluctuating climate and the vogue of a more formal arrangement."

Ethel R. Pevsner in the Country Magazine for May.

His Opinion.

Bacon—Do you know anything about piano-playing?

Egbert—Why, yes. I have players all about me at home.

"Then do you know the right position for a player's hands?"

"Sure thing. Padlocked!"—Yonkers Statesman.

They were a very saving old couple, and as a result they had a beautifully furnished house.

One day the old woman missed her husband.

"Joseph, where are you?" she called out.

"I'm resting in the parlor," came the reply.

"What, on the sofa," cried the old woman, horrified.

"No; on the floor."

"Not on that grand carpet," came in tones of anguish.

"No; I've rolled it up!"—Farming Business.
